Marjolein Baars and Suzan Hordijk share a passion for water, play, music and nature. Currently they create projects in which all facets of water will be highlighted. Both the power of water, the ability to give life as the impact of pollution caused by human action. Their joint intention is to commit to Living, clean water.

With UNPLUGGED! they start a project for provinces, municipalities and schools, consisting of a musical and theatrical release of the subject and an interactive series of meetings, consisting of an ExperienceLab, Lecture and Design workshops in which the participants are invited to contribute in finding concrete solutions to water pollution such as medicines, plastics and pesticides, that help provide cleaner water environment in the immediate vicinity.

We work in co-creation with man and nature.

The project offers the possibility to highlight different aspects within the context of the question of County, municipality or school and is always unique and custom made.

Marjolein Baars (1958) makes theatre, works from the Michael Chekhov acting technique and Clowning and develops training and innovative projects. Her focus is on contributing to more humanity and love for nature.
